

Seal Beach Detention Center

Medical tests to be completed prior to admission to the Seal Beach Jail

The following tests MUST be completed by your health care professional before you will be allowed to serve your time here at the Seal Beach Jail. These tests can be done by your own physician or at any clinic. Be sure to schedule the tests with enough time to allow for the results to be returned to you. Bring the results on the forms provided by the health care agency with you on your check in date or bring or fax them in prior. All tests need to be negative or within normal ranges or entry will be denied. Failure to bring the tests results will result in denied entry into the facility.

PPD for Tuberculosis (completed and read before check in)

Chest x-ray needed for prior positive tests. This means if you have ever had a positive test, you will need to have the x-ray.

RPR for STD

CBC (Complete blood count)

H.I.V. test

Hepatitis panel

Complete Physical exam
(Including Blood pressure)
